

Williamstown.
A son was born last Saturday to "Gene" and Mrs. Alma Work O'Neil.

Next Sunday morning a collection will be taken at the Congregational church for the American board of foreign missions, and a generous one is needed.

Mrs. Enos F. Walker is a little better, though yet confined to the bed.

Fremont C. Little is putting an end to his new house. John A. Perry has charge of the work.

Judge Austin Young and wife of Minneapolis, Minn., have just arrived here and are with their niece, Mrs. Annie Martin.

Lewis M. Seaver and daughter returned last week from a visit at Chicago. They visited the Pan-American in their way back. Mr. Seaver, who has done no little sight seeing, thought he saw some surprisingly fine things in and about Buffalo. He goes to New York city again this week on business.

Said one of our town officials in our hearing, the other day, "William Hanson was a first class town grand juror, as he served some years ago."

Mrs. Chester Martin last week attended the wedding of her nephew, Mr. Wilcox of East Brookfield.

Rev. Carlos Adams, son of the late John and Mrs. Anna Howe Adams, is here with his family for a vacation. For years he has been a Methodist clergyman in the West, and last year was called to Detroit, Mich., after a pastorate of four years in Adrian, Mich. Held in high respect in his old home, it is likely that his townsmen may have the opportunity to hear him preach before he leaves here. He assisted Rev. D. H. Strong at the union service at the Congregational church last Sunday evening.

A former townsmen visiting here from the West, as he was inhaling the fine air of last Sunday, said to us, "There is nothing like Vermont air." It could only blow as much change into his pockets as it does into his lungs he might be living upon it, rather than on western breezes.

Harold Davis has lately killed two coal black woodchucks.

Charles B. Benedict went to Burlington on Saturday where his four children are to be present on Wednesday of this week at the wedding of his youngest daughter, Miss Bessie M. The groom to be is our young townsmen, Frank, son of the late Henry E. Erskine, who has a position as teacher in the Albany, N. Y., Business College. It goes without saying, that a host of good wishes will follow this couple in their new life.

Miss Mary E. Waterman of Moline, Ill., a granddaughter of the late Calvin Alsworth, arrived here last week for the season, after an absence of sixteen years.

Dr. Charles A. Gale of Rutland, was in town last week, and offered our citizens through our school board if the town will move the school-house in the old David Gale district, a very little farther to the north, grade grounds to the highway, and ever call the building the David Gale school-house, in memory of his father he will give $25 let the town have between two and three acres of ground adjoining the building. This offer will surely be well considered by our citizens.

Mrs. Will Kibbee and her adopted daughter, Miss Myrtle Dow, were in town last week.

Mr. and Mrs. "Lee" Williams took an outing last week with family friends in Barre.

Miss Nellie C. Blanchard will teach in the George Savary district the coming season. At present she is assisting in Charles M. Seaver's store.

The Methodist ladies will have a social at the vestry Thursday afternoon and evening of this week. There will be ice cream and cake on the parsonage lawn at the same time. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. George E. Earle, an earnest white ribboner and a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Barre, went with the union to Dewey Park last Friday, where she had been on account of ill health, and who went last spring to his old home in Northfield.

Dr. George E. Adams of Fairhaven is expected here this week or next for a visit.

Fred, son of Gordon Martin, is at home from his vacation for a vacation after an absence of a year or more. He will likely return there.

It is a pleasure to hear the good report that comes to us of the improving health of Estey Elliott, who was compelled to give up the granite business on account of ill health, and who went last spring to his old home in Northfield.

As one reads reports of prices realized for butter by the patrons of our creamery, it should be remembered that some two cents more per pound should be added to these prices, to accord with the common idea of price; the creamery using what is called the butter fat test, the other one using the churn test. For June butter therefore our patrons got some twenty-two cents per pound by the latter test.

"Ed" Martin, son of Alden P. Martin, has joined forces with Henry F. Laell in our meat market.

Our old townsfolk, Mr. and Mrs. George Harrington of Princeton, Ill., are visiting in town.

Mr. Oliver Blanchard and daughter, formerly of South Barre, passed through here last week to Brookfield, to return later to visit the family of road commissioner O. A. Blanchard.

Marcus A. Smith continues to gain and a return to health is confidently looked for.

Next week Tuesday, Aug. 13, will occur the centennial anniversary of our town library, which was founded in 1801, and one to be established in our state. As this is to be the only special event in the Old Home Week here, it is hoped the attendance of present and former citizens of our town will be as large as possible. Every one of them is assured of a cordial welcome.

Last week Mrs. Gordon Martin and family had the pleasure of a picnic in the Guilford field over Sunday, called on the occasion being a visit of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Crabb of Cedar Grove, Ga. Mrs. Crabb was a Noyes and is a cousin of Mrs. Martin. This southern family will remain north for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. "Hal" Cheney were up from Randolph to spend last Sunday with the family of his brother, Harvey L. Cheney.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Denny of South Northfield had the pleasure of a call from them last week. They were accompanied by their son Harry, for some years a resident of New York city, their daughter, Miss Amy, and their granddaughter.

Dr. E. B. Watson is treating Mrs. Will E. Noyes, whose family went from here to Northfield to live a few years ago. She suffers from bronchitis, and is at present laid off from work by illness.

Henry Nixon is on his farm near Middlebury township, but is cutting granite there more or less.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Savary were in town last week. They have been visiting in the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington in 11 years.

James Aubin sold his household goods at auction on Saturday, but failed to get enough bid on his house lot to let them go. He will continue to work here at granite cutting.

Mrs. C. Elizabeth Tarbell is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Bean in Brookfield. Mrs. O'Neil Tarbell is expected there this week.

Perhaps the finest display of flowers in our town will be found in the garden of Mrs. Dorcas Capron Sprague, who cultivates both flowers and seeds to sell.

Lee Sater of Barre had engaged a tenement in our village and was coming here to work at granite cutting, but was offered so much more pay in Massachusetts that he went there.

The daughter of George Harrington of Princeton, Ill., joined her parents here on Monday.

Will F. Groulx is again at work as a blacksmith for a New York firm at a quarry in North Conway, N. H.

Mrs. Walter E. Granger will give a reception to the members of the Ladies' Literary club on Thursday afternoon of this week.

We know not how many new silos are to be built in town, but among the builders are farmers Ebert Jackson, Albert Goodrich, Irving Covell, Howard Winchester, Retura S. and Harold Davis, Mr. Kelly on the O. S. Walker place, Mr. G. L. on the Lucius L. Simons place and Mr. Smith on the Alvin Little farm.

One of our farmers says that without the silo he built last year he would not have had hay enough to winter his stock, but with it he was enabled to sell $60 worth of hay last season.

We have from time to time made record of Preston Cross, a brother-in-law of William Geason, of the firm of the Geason-Beckett Granite company, who came here some years ago from near St. George, New Brunswick, to learn the granite cutting trade. A worthy young man, he was making headway in his work and had some pecuniary interest in the business, when more than a year ago he met with an accident in his work that cost him an eye. This was followed by a sickness that involved his lungs. He had previously been a sufferer from catarrh. In the year past he has made a brave fight for health, in Vermont, New Brunswick and North Carolina. From the last State he has lately decided to return to New Brunswick, and it is feared he is to be conquered in the struggle for life. To those who have so favorably known his history here and that of his young wife who will bring sorrow and increased sympathy will go out to them.

A. G. Smith of Barre has a new advertisement in this issue that rheumatic sufferers should read.

If you want a wash skirt cheap, better visit Homer Flitts' cloak department in the next few days.
